

The UK's first National Numeracy Day will take place on the 16th May 2018

What's the issue?

Let numbers improve your life

The average cost to individuals with poor number skills is £460 a year.

Research has revealed that good number skills can help people better manage their money.

Those with poor numeracy are more than twice as likely to be unemployed.

Nearly half the working-age population have the numeracy skills of a primary school child.

Check whether you have the 'Essentials of Numeracy' using our free online tool:

www.nnchallenge.org.uk/invc

If you would like to brush up your Numeracy skills, please contact your lifelong learning officer to discuss how Unison can help.

Telephone: 07775221601 or

Email: calum.mclellan@inverclyde.gov.uk